The Teacher Think-Aloud Podcast
Professional Development Offerings

We love PD! 😍 Hire Shé and Anna to lead a virtual workshop for your team of fabulous educators. Choose from the options below, or pitch us a new idea.

Before you talk to us, think about these questions:
- What needs have your teachers expressed over the years?
- What new concepts would you like to expose your teaching staff to?
- What tangible goals/objectives would you like your teaching staff to achieve?

Reach out to us at teacherthinkaloud@gmail.com to inquire about our availability.

Standard pricing:
- 1-hour workshop: USD 500 per session
- 1.5-hour workshop: USD 550 per session
- 2-hour workshop: USD 600 per session
- 2.5-hour workshop: USD 650 per session

Topic	Workshop Description
Signature workshop: Reflective Pedagogy: The Key to Your PD (1 hour) only $400!	In this workshop, the facilitators will define a framework for reflective pedagogy and will offer strategies for instructors to become more reflective and effective in their personal practice. Through guided reflection activities, participants will discover ways to cultivate meaningful professional development that honors their unique needs and will set intentions for their personal PD journey.
Strategies for Expanding Student Talk Time (1.5 hours)	Participants in this workshop will discuss the challenges and advantages of making learning student-centered. They will come away with simple yet effective strategies for increasing student talk time (STT) and reducing teacher talk time (TTT) to enhance learning outcomes.
Establishing Rapport, On- and Off-line (1.5 hours)	In this workshop, the facilitators will discuss key considerations in establishing and maintaining rapport in both online and offline environments. They will share strategies for creating a culture of mutual support and academic rigor in a way that is effective and genuine.
Social Media for Language Learning (1.5 hours)	In this workshop, the facilitators will present an objectives-based approach to engaging students in the language-learning process through social media, focusing on the unique affordances different platforms have to offer. Participants will leave with strategies which have proven effective in bridging the digital divide through the leveraging of social media, piquing student interest and engagement inside and out of the classroom.

The Teacher Think-Aloud Podcast

Professional Development Offerings

Topic	Workshop Description
Project-Based Learning (1.5 hours)	This workshop will provide an overview of project-based learning, its benefits on learning outcomes, and the process of designing a project-based activities. We will examine facilitators' unique experiences in implementing PBL, and participants will work together to generate ideas for project-based activities they can implement in their own educational context with the aim of augmenting not only language skills across the domains, but bolstering technological proficiency, research and presentation skills and classroom collaboration.
Rubric Design (1.5 hours)	This workshop will provide a basic overview of different kinds of classroom assessments and of the different kinds of rubrics which can be used to evaluate and provide feedback on student work. Participants will practice creating holistic, analytic, single-trait, and multi-trait rubrics which they can implement in their own classes.
Intercultural Communicative Competence (2 hours)	This workshop will introduce an overview of ICC and present various hands-on activities for participants to use in their respective educational settings, including interaction analyses, role play, and discussion topics. Participants will create their own activities that aim to cultivate intercultural competence in this interactive session.
Academic Integrity & Plagiarism (2 hours)	This workshop will address the concepts of academic integrity and plagiarism inherent in Western university culture, as well as the challenge of applying an academic integrity policy in international contexts. The participants will learn about and discuss practical approaches to introduce and enforce a culture of academic honesty in their own classrooms.
Media Literacy & Digital Citizenship (2 hours)	In this workshop, participants will become familiar with definitions of media literacy and will learn strategies for teaching students how to critically evaluate media. The workshop will touch in particular on issues of fake news, detecting bias in media, propaganda and advertising techniques, and more. The participants will leave the workshop with resources and activities they can implement in their own classroom.

THE TEACHER
THINK-ALOUD PODCAST
with Anna & Shey